INDUSTRIAL MODULAR STEEL FRAME SYSTEM

TekSpan enables contractors and installers to build a frame on site that provides similar strength qualities to welded steel frames, but can be easily transported to site and erected quickly in situ. Based on a hot dipped galvanised box frame and using a unique T-bolt fastening system, TekSpan has been installed on many projects throughout Europe and is now available to the UK market.

TekSpan gives you the loading properties of welded steel frames without the associated site-welding issues, and is ideal for installing in challenging environments, such as basement boiler rooms and risers where a crane-lift would present a logistics issue. Proven throughout the world even in demanding NZ seismic conditions, TekSpan's versatility makes it the modular system of choice.

At the heart of the TekSpan system is the patented T-lock bolt. This unique M12 bolt is made from 10.9 high grade steel giving up to 10kN shear strength, and can be simply installed using a torque wrench.

One of the unique features of the TekSpan System is the stepless slot design, which the T-lock bolt facilitates. In practice this means that leveling up frames and structures is done simply and quickly, in contrast to screw systems that require precise alignment of holes.

Talk to us to discover ways in which TekSpan can make installs easier, quicker and more cost-effective.
